

WORLDWIDE SPEAKERS GROUP LLC
YOUR GLOBAL PARTNER IN THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

JOHN DI DOMENICO

John Di Domenico is an American, Emmy Nominated, Actor, Writer, Comedian and Impersonator, he performs many different characters and is best known for his award-winning Donald Trump impersonation.

Di Domenico has been performing Trump since 2004. When Donald Trump announced his presidential run in June of 2015, Di Domenico's career took off, he became the official Donald Trump for numerous TV shows, making countless appearances on Conan O'Brien, Chelsea Handler, Fox News Redeye, Fox & Friends and many more outlets. Di Domenico also reads the tweets and performs sketches on Slate's Trumpcast podcast and live shows. Di Domenico is the only Trump impersonator in the world to appear on the This Morning, Britain. Today Show & Sunrise Australia, Today Show Ireland, plus hundreds other international TV, radio and news appearances.

John has made hundreds of live appearances as Donald Trump around the country and internationally he can be seen and heard in videos on YouTube, commercials, animated series, voiceovers, virtual reality, apps and even toys.

John has appeared as Trump in four feature films and the 13-episode Canadian Comedy Awards nominated web series "You've Got Trumped" and is the winner of ABC's The View's National Trump Contest and The Laugh Factory's International Trump Competition.

John is originally from the Philadelphia area where he started his acting career, then moved to New York to work in theatre, television, film, standup and was a member of the Improv Company "Some Assembly Required". He now lives in Las Vegas.

John attended East Stroudsburg University and graduated from Temple University with a BA in Speech Communications. John spent a year as an Intern for U.S. Senator Arlen Specter. He overcame a severe speech impediment as a child to become a performer.