MARGIE WARRELL

Dr. Margie Warrell is a bestselling author, keynote speaker and internationally renowned authority on courageous leadership.

Margie Warrell has gained deep insights into human behavior, cultivating courage and nurturing resilience since her childhood growing up on a farm in rural Australia.

As Senior Partner in Korn Ferry's Board, CEO & Leadership advisory practice, Margie draws on her diverse experience in Fortune 500 business, psychology, and coaching to provide sharp cross-cultural insights that address the complex challenges facing leaders and organizations today.

Enterprises such as NASA, Oracle, Shell, Morgan Stanley, Dell, SAP, Novartis, PPG, Mondelez and Johnson & Johnson have trusted Margie to embolden braver leadership, accelerate growth and foster more agile, collaborative and innovative 'cultures of courage.'

A sought-after keynote speaker who has lectured at Georgetown, Columbia, USC, and SMU, the titles of her five books—Stop Playing Safe, You've Got This!, Brave, Make Your Mark, and Find Your Courage—reflect her passion for empowering people to embrace a 'risk-ready mindset' that fosters innovation and unlocks potential in both individuals and enterprises.

A Forbes columnist and co-author of two other books with Stephen Covey, Ken Blanchard, and Jack Canfield, Margie was recently recognized as a Top 200 Leadership Voice globally and LinkedIn Top Voice. She's also a Women's Economic Forum honoree and sits on the board of Women's Democracy Network and Forbes School of Business & Technology.

Margie's doctoral research informs her work in cultivating more inclusive work cultures that unleash the value of diversity and advance more women to top tables. Her expertise in human behavior, leadership, and workplace issues is regularly sought by leading media such as CNN, Bloomberg, TODAY, and The Wall Street Journal.

In 2020 Margie relocated back to the Washington, D.C. area after ten years in Asia-Pacific. Outside work, Margie enjoys adventure travel, including climbing Mount Kilimanjaro with her husband and their four teenage children.
